God's Coming Spiritual Revolution - Part 46

So how do spiritual longings retard the growth of Spiritual Desire? (continued)

As any true parent knows, you start loving your children even before they leave their mother's womb.

For in your heart you have already received them as being a vital part of you & your future life as their coming presence will either create or add to your family unit.

On arrival into this world, we give them a foundational love embodied in our true acceptance of them.

A foundation of love upon which they can hopefully build a blossoming life based on togetherness.

Parents provide an abiding fundamental love to their children, a love so durable that no true parent could ever completely put it aside.

It appears to come so naturally, considering our inability to fully understand its seemingly unbreakable strength & flexibility, even when tested under great stress.

Though tough times of life's realities can & will put it under attack through creating infringements against what has been built upon its foundation, it remains intact.

The family unit, in one form or another, has been consistently upheld throughout history & has played a pivotal role in forming the very fabric of human life in most cultures & societies.

For it is the love for our children that calls upon us to create & provide shelter, comfort, protection & most crucially, a place of belonging.

It is where earnest development & promotion of love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness & self-control makes family what it is.

A love created to provide a place of continual restoration & reconciliation, regardless of any situation or circumstance encountered.

Isaiah 42:3 (NIRV)

3 He will not break a bent twig. He will not put out a dimly burning flame. He will be faithful and make everything right.

In their being the fruit of our seed, our children continually draw from us an acceptance embodying a very special kind of love.

A love, the mirror of which reflects the answer to the meaning of life, for its very essence emanates from a place far beyond anything this world can offer.

For a family's survival is not dependent upon who or what you are, but rather upon the fact that you belong together, having been bound & knitted together in love.

To hopefully produce in us an ability to love ourselves & then others from within its bounds.

Thus to provide a foundation to this life, that though it may be stretched, deformed, strained, tangled, complexed or becomes unfathomable or complicated at times, it can never be broken.

For we encounter so much personal love in this world that can bring so much complication, pain & suffering in the physical.

However, true familial love has been sown from within the spiritual realm.

It is a perpetual gift from God in this life for all mankind & one that is firmly rooted within the Eternal.

Like all gifts, we are free to do what we please with it, but we cannot change the fact that the Spirit in which it was given remains unmolested & Forever True.

For God Is Love and the family unit is not just another one of man's many fabrications for comfort.

It is the very nucleus or central core to God's Kingdom, which even here in this fallen world, has been wonderfully woven, at our birth, into the very fabric of life.

For most of us were blessed enough to be born into this life being received into the warmth of someone's true acceptance of us, whether it was our parents or others.

As we were delivered into that acceptance, the spiritual knowledge of His Pure Acceptance gained while being formed in our mother's womb, fell into a slumber.

To create a subconscious void that can only be Spiritually re-awakened in us.

Yet, at the same time, its reflection having been embedded in our soul, left us with a broad & indeterminate physical need for true acceptance.

And by His Grace, upon finding its seed within our family, a foundational need for true love developed & was established within the embodiment of that acceptance.

For no man, other than Jesus of Nazareth has entered this fallen world fully Seeing & Knowing Pure Acceptance & the Pure Love embodied within it.

For us, we do not arrive bringing & dispensing love, but rather it is through the acceptance of us by parents or others that care for us, that love is awakened within us.

Just as the first man Adam was to find God's Pure Acceptance awaited him, for God had already declared everything He had made was very good.

For to truly love, first we need to give acceptance, then love.

Genesis 1:31 KJV

31 And God saw every thing that he had made, and, behold, it was very good. And the evening and the morning were the sixth day.

God's Pure Acceptance of all He Created embodied within it His Pure Love for all mankind & given to Adam, the first of all men.

Which then created an Eternal Circle of Love between God & man, who had been made in His Likeness for God is Our Father & mankind His Family.

All established within so Pure a Love, that even though its circle was broken at the fall of man, it remained Eternal in God's Heart.

Now reflected in us as parents, when we form a circle of love between our newborn babies & ourselves, that in essence remains regardless of the physical outcomes life may present to us.

For surely a true reflection of the circle of love is present inside every one of us, for we all were fearfully & wonderfully made in the Likeness of God, Who Is Love.

Our soul understands the need for true acceptance & love, a need especially founded & nurtured from within the foundation of our families.

However, most have yet to discover an even greater need to Spiritually find Pure Acceptance & Love.

For one is a temporal need, the other Eternal, one can only be found in the physical realm, the other only in the Spiritual.

The first we all have from birth, but due to the Fall of Man to sin, the second is now only available to us Spiritually.

It can only be found in the Eternally Pure Acceptance & Love of God that awaits the acknowledging of God again in our hearts through Jesus Christ.

As I said the first is temporal, yet a reflection of the second, the full power of which was lost to man within the events described in the following scripture.

Genesis 3:1-6 KJV

1 Now the serpent was more subtil than any beast of the field which the LORD God had made. And he said unto the woman, Yea, hath God said, Ye shall not eat of every tree of the garden?

2 And the woman said unto the serpent, We may eat of the fruit of the trees of the garden:

3 But of the fruit of the tree which is in the midst of the garden, God hath said, Ye shall not eat of it, neither shall ye touch it, lest ye die.

4 And the serpent said unto the woman, Ye shall not surely die:

5 For God doth know that in the day ye eat thereof, then your eyes shall be opened, and ye shall be as gods, knowing good and evil.

6 And when the woman saw that the tree was good for food, and that it was pleasant to the eyes, and a tree to be desired to make one wise, she took of the fruit thereof, and did eat, and gave also unto her husband with her; and he did eat.

The serpent came subtly, being a nicety of thought or fine distinction, in order to steal, kill & destroy what God had given.

He came in a form of acceptance that was neither true or pure, for it gave nothing, but rather through deception it was used to take man away from God's Presence.

For in giving no real acceptance to man, the serpent promoted a deceptive sense of self-acceptance, which plagues man to this day.

Leading him further away from God, rather than back toward Him, for men seek for how to quench the inner hunger of need for the filling of the void it left within them.

For this acceptance of self defaced the Obedience of Christ consisted in the Image of God within man, by his disobedience.

In losing the Pure Acceptance of God, man is left trying to fill the void its loss created, but can only be reconciled & restored in & through Jesus Christ.

We all need to seek discernment in regard to the different types of acceptance we can encounter in life.

For they can equally constrain or enhance our walk through life, whether in or out of Christ.

To Be Continued.

Love,
